

Liu Yaxuan

Undergraduate in Philosophy, Politics & Economics

Beijing, China

+86 130 2002 7071

✉ Liuyaxuan33@gmail.com

Education

- Sep 2023 – B.A. in Philosophy, Politics & Economics (PPE), Peking University, Yuanpei College
Present GPA: 3.786
Selected Coursework: Game Theory and Application (Ph.D.-level), Advanced Microeconomics (Ph.D.-level), Advanced Macroeconomics (Ph.D.-level), Econometrics, AI Introduction, Software Design Practice
- Sep 2024 – Yan Fu Program for Innovative Talent in the Social Sciences, Peking University
Present
- Aug 2026 – Exchange Student in Economics, University of California, Berkeley
Dec 2026

Research Experience

- Oct 2025 – Independent Undergraduate Research, School of Economics, Peking University
Present ○ Examines how Taiwan's "Land-to-the-Tiller" reform affected population mobility, focusing in particular on the mechanisms through which land reform increased mobility. The project introduces a new dataset and provides causal evidence identifying the reform's effects on population movement.
- Apr 2026 – Independent Undergraduate Research, Department of Sociology, Peking University
Present ○ Advised by Prof. Geng Tian.
○ Historical-sociological research on land reform in Taiwan, based on survey reports from the Central Political School's Graduate School of Land Economics, primary writings by Hsiao Cheng and other land reformers, and legal-historical sources, with a particular focus on institutional, intellectual, and legal continuities and ruptures.
- Mar 2024 – Research Assistant to Prof. Yiling Zhao, School of Economics, Peking University
Present ○ Constructed a large-scale dataset from U.S. college yearbooks published between the 1900s and 1930s using batch OCR and NLP techniques, and examined the impact of coeducation on the use of gendered language in descriptions of students.
- Jun 2025 – Research Assistant to Prof. Zenan Wu, School of Economics, Peking University
Present ○ Developed and analyzed industrial organization models of platform markets, using analytical and numerical methods to derive and prove theoretical results. The research examines platform and seller behavior when product prices are visible to consumers.
- Sep 2025 – Research Assistant to Prof. Tianyang Xi, National School of Development, Peking University
Oct 2025 ○ Contributed to the construction of a biographical dataset of Chinese government officials by cross-checking and validating records against publicly available sources.

Teaching & Mentoring

- Fall 2024 Teaching Assistant, Principles of Economics (I), School of Economics, Peking University
○ Held weekly office hours and discussion sessions for first-year students
○ Graded assignments and exams and provided feedback
- Fall 2025 Teaching Assistant, Principles of Economics (I), School of Economics, Peking University
○ Held weekly sections and office hours for first-year students; graded assignments and exams and provided feedback.
- Fall 2025 Teaching Assistant, Peking University in, School of Economics, Peking University
○ Liaised with the instructor to coordinate course scheduling and logistics; attended lectures, provided in-class and administrative support, and managed the collection of student assignments.

Fall 2024 Co-Leader, PPE Reading Club, Peking University

- Organized and led seminars on "The Corporation and the Contract: Coase and beyond"; facilitated discussions on classic and modern applications in contract theory; served as liaison and lead contact for inviting and coordinating guest faculty mentors.

Activities

Sep 2023 – Head, Cultural & Life Dept., Yuanpei College Student Union

- Jun 2024 ○ Directed event planning for a 1,000-member community; led team to first place (Group B) at annual Faculty-Student Choral Festival Commemorating the December Ninth Movement; oversaw daily operations and internal coordination within the department, holding weekly meetings.

Skills

- Economics Ph.D. level Micro- and Macro-economics courses, econometric methods for causal inference.
- History Undergraduate-level training in historical research, including close reading and interpretation of primary sources, source criticism, and engagement with relevant historiography.
- Sociology Field research methods; training in the history of social theory; extensive reading in classical social theory of the Gründerzeit, with particular familiarity with the works of Max Weber and Sigmund Freud.
- Philosophy Undergraduate-level training in philosophical reading, argumentation, and writing; familiarity with major texts in political philosophy and the history of philosophy from German Idealism to Western Marxism.
- Programming Python, C++, Stata, R; Git/GitHub and command-line tools; AI-assisted programming and rapid prototyping.
- Languages Mandarin Chinese (native); English (advanced); German (reading proficiency, particularly philosophical texts); Japanese (basic conversational proficiency).

Awards

- 2023 Li Huirong Scholarship
- 2023 Academic Excellence Award, Yuanpei College
- 2024 China Merchants Bank Securities Scholarship
- 2024 Award for Social Practice and Public Service
- 2025 Global Exploration Scholarship

Interests

Economic History, Historical Sociology, History of Political Thoughts.

References

Available upon request